CDR Assessment Group, Inc. Launches New Learning Management System

CDR Assessment Group, Inc. has launched a new Learning Management System to support the ongoing education needs of its clients, consultants and certified coaches. The LMS provides unlimited access to eLearning materials, articles and content as well as demo coaching sessions and webinars. (need more here)

Certified executive coaches can now access continuing education and certifications to improve the sustainability of learning while minimizing the overall cost of development. In addition, organizations will have the benefit of talent development for their employees along with a tracking system that is in conformity with federal requirements.
